Attached are the Excel spreadsheets with the results of the searches you ran for each of the 8 search terms on IA Pro. In each spreadsheet, Plaintiffs have highlighted in yellow the complaints that we believe are responsive to our document requests, relevant to our claims and therefore should be produced to us. Please confirm that you will be providing your views on which of these complaints are relevant by next Monday, July 29.

In addition, it remains Plaintiffs' position that the entire case file for each of the relevant IA complaints should be produced to us, and we similarly look forward to hearing your views on this issue by July 29 as well.

Again, we agree on the dates and steps discussed and specifically outlined in our conference. Nothing in the email I just sent changes that, as I said 2 times (for that extra emphasis). I noted my disagreement with the characterization/argument/language set forth in your email in what I thought was a pretty straight forward manner. I don't think this additional email was necessary. I'm going to proceed exactly as we discussed. I don't see the point in wasting the court's time, and will reiterate all of this if you want to.

In a further effort to make it clear why I do not think this is an actual dispute, my specific responses are contained in the body of your email. Apologize for any typographical errors, tried to respond quickly.
